REIGNS AGAIN.

DR. RAMSAY SUSTAINED AND HIS SESSION DIS- NOTICE OF AN APPEAL TO THE FEDERAL SU. SOLVED-UNION SEMINARY AND THE GEN-

ERAL ASSEMBLY DISCUSSED AGAIN. "Disorder," "Uproar," "I'nfair advantage"
"Quibble" are words to which some members of New-York Presbytery object in the reports of their meetings, but in the interest of absolute accuracy it is necessary to say that at the meeting yesterday in the Old First Church there were more persons on their feet at the same time than are generally seen standing at a regular prayer meeting It must be added, also, that one speaker remarked that "the only points made during the last half-hour have been points of order." Another member interrupted a speaker who had said that he kept his eyes open with the remark: "You ought to have kept your mouth shut." Dr. Mullally quick to withdraw his closing remark, and apolo-gized for thinking aloud. Half a dozen men insisted at one time that an elder making an "interminable harangue ' should retract certain statements or suffer the consequences. But, all in all, the results of the meeting yes terday were entirely satisfactory to the majority of the Presbytery. Two subjects occupied the four hours and more given to the afternoon session: The resignation of Dr. J. S. Ramsay as paster of the Harlem Presbyterian Church, and the relation of Union Seminary students to the Presbytery. In the evening several students examined for ilcensure two weeks ago were licensed to preach. Dr. Ramsay presented his resignation, and three representatives of his congregation, which opposed leaving them by a vote of 193 to 12, were heard. Following them came an elder from the church who desired the pastor to leave the pastorate. ter a long discussion the Presbytery refused to Ramsay to resign, dissolved the session of his church, and ordered that their successors should be elected on May 15. The Presbytery has decided to discuss an overture bearing upon case of the Union Seminary students at the May meeting, but about 6 p. m. Dr. Booth called up th matter, and, after an hour spent in discussion, it as decided by a vote of 22 to 20 to overture the General Assembly to instruct it in relation to thealogical students who wish to be taken under the care of the Presbytery when studying in seminaries which do not have the approval of the Assembly.

DR. RAMSAY WILLING TO RESIGN.

Dr. Ramsay's statement was delivered in the presence of a full meeting of ministers and elders, and of many of his parishioners, who sat in the gallery. It was evident at the outset that the feeling was wholly in favor of the pastor, who for twenty years has filled one pulpit. A conservative by nature. Dr. Ramsay has long been known as a lover of fair play, and in the Detroit General Assembly in 1891, on constitutional grounds, he championed the cause of Dr. Briggs and Union Seminary with all the zeal of a liberal. In the Presbytery he has stood by every man needing a friend, and yesterday the entire Presbytery, with the exception of the elder from his own church, railied to his support, and sent him back with the heartlest commendation possible, and legislated out of office the elders who had made life a burden to him. It was pathetic to hear Dr. Ramsay tell how he first heard of the disaffection in his church. Feeling that he should not remain in a church where considerable number of people, as he had been a little while his informant came to tell him that he himself had been mistaken about the feelings. At the coroner's office the record showed that Cathagainst the pastor, and that then the great ma-fority of the people-nineteen-twentietas, he said-The foundation for the resignation being taken away, Dr. Ramsay withdrew his letter resigning the pastorate. To his great surprise, he stumbled into a meeting of his session a few weeks ago at which he should have presided, but to which he had not even been invited, and at which, as he found later, he was the subject of discussion. That night he decided to resign and lay the matter before the Presbytery.

Dr. D. J. McMillan, who presided at the congregational meeting on April 22, told of the almost unanimous protest against Dr. Ramsay's resigning, only 12 of the 206 voting in favor of his going away. NOT THE PASTOR, BUT THE SESSION, TO GO.

Lincoln A. Stuart, one of the commissioners ap-pointed by that meeting, ended his address to the Presbytery by declaring that what the Harlem Church wanted was not that Dr. Ramsay should that the session should resign. Professor D. W. Hering united with Mr. Stuart in denying that the congregation wanted a change of pastor. John W. Mack told the Presbytery what reasons should leave them. One was that he drank stro coffee and smoked cigars. Another was that he did not support the Pierson evangelistic meetings as he should, and still another was that the finances of the church were running behind. Mr. Mack replied in some detail to the financial objections, declaring that instead of a deficit the church had a surplus. His reference to coffee and cigars caused Charles E. Cochrane, one of the elders who on-posed Dr. Ramsay in his own session and the representative of the Harlem Church in the Presbytery, was repeatedly called to order for his impiled charges, which were understood by the mem-bers of the Presbytery to refer to Dr. Ramsay, but he denied that he had the pastor in mind Dr. Ramsay insisted that the Presbytery should listen to Mr. Cochrane or any other man who had any-thing to say against his official life.

DR. MULLALLY MAKES A REMARK. "I kept my eyes open," sald Mr. Cochrane in one

"You ought to have kept your mouth shut." retorted Dr. Mullally, Dr. Forbes, the moderator, called Dr. Mullally to order, and he apologized. At another time, Mr. Cochrane said that he desired to have a committee appointed to go to Har pudgment on certain subjects, and they expressed the hope that the Presbytery would not be blased too much by what had been said. Mr. Cochrane admitted that he had suffered at one time from worry and overwork, but that he was now in per-fect health. On Dr. Bliss's motion, the following resolutions of confidence in Dr. Ramsay were unani-mously adopted:

AN OVERTURE TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Immediately after the Ramsay case had been dispored of the complaint made against the Presbytery for receiving under its care students studying in Union Seminary was taken up. The question was whether a third of the members voting at the regular meeting in April on the motion had signed The long controversy was ended by Dr. Booth offering as a new motion nearly all the until the May meeting. This was possible, he said.

until the May meeting. This was possible, he said, because he omitted the two or three words which referred to the date of the passage of the motion. The following overture was adopted by a vote of 32 to 20, and ordered sent to the General Assembly, which meets in Fittsburg next month:

"The Presbytery of New-York overtures the General Assembly to instruct it in relation to its duty toward sindents applying to be taken under its care who are pursuing or purpose to pursue their studies in theological seminaries respecting whose teaching the General Assembly disavows responsibility."

This overture, having been adopted, the complaint, it was understood, would be drouped.

In the evening the Presbytery listened to sermons from seven young men, who were licensed to preach. They were Alots Harta, Jaroslan Doblas, Morris Frank, Frank D. Kerwood, M. M. Minassian, George Storney and Edward S. Chichester.

A LULL FOLLOWS THE STORM AND PEACE NO HABEAS CORPUS FOR THE CON-DEMNED MAN.

PREME COURT-WILL IT ACT AS A STAY ? An application for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Dr. Robert W. Buchanan, the condemnet murderer in Sing Sing awaiting execution, was made before United States District Judge Addison Brown in his chambers in the Federal Building application for the writ and for an order for Warden Sage to show cause and under what law he show two papers in the case, the commitment and sentence of Recorder Goff and the proclamation of Governor Morton, fixing the date of execution. They argued that Governor Morton had no statutory right to practically resentence a man to death and fix the date of his execution. They hased their ament upon Section 53 of the Criminal Code which requires that in cases where a criminal has not been executed as first sentenced to be he must be taken to court and resentenced by a judge Peshall contended that, while the Governor had a right to postpone an execution, he had no right to resentence the defendant to be executed. Judge Brown denied the application, and wrote the following indorsement on the papers:

DR. NEWTON STANDS BY THE ESSENTIAL POINTS MADE IN HIS SERMON OF A WEEK

Somewhere about the middle of last week, in one ject, it was stated that my sermon in question was from the notes taken by The Tribune reporter. I have not this article at hand as I write, and can only quote from memory. There is here, plainly, a discrepancy in The Tribune's own accounts of the matter. The discrepancy, I think, can be reconciled, and in that reconcillation is the clew to the difficulties of the situation. I infer that The Trib-une reporter took notes of his own, and commingied them with the abstract received from the church. This was the impression which I formed on reading the first report of the sermon, a week ago to-said in the prepared abstract, but also a very curious unlikeness to what was there said. The most grotesque misrepresentation of a man's utterances may be a very close resemblance to them. change of a word, the omission of a word, the addition of a word, may make, as every one knows, a vast difference in the tone and temper of a state-

The feature of the proceedings was the address of Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, who came on here from Atlanta to rive the New-York members some information regarding freight charges for exhibits, space that can be allotted them at the fair which will be held in September, and such details as insurence and trans-portation arrangements. Mrs. Black closed her address with an appeal to her Northern sisters for co-operation. Mrs. Ella Poweil, chairman of this New-York

Mrs. Read's co-workers on the arrangement and decoration of this room, which will

THE VARIETY STAGE.

Miss Vesta Tilley began her second week at Tony Pastor's Theatre last night, and there was another good audience in attendance. In her costumes Miss Tilley claims a likeness to the jubjub bird, in being ahead of the fashion. The really remarkable part of her performance is its entire freedom from vulgarity and offence. This is a negative besides. The company supporting her is composed of Sam Bernard, Miss Daisy Mayer and her pickanninies, the Nelson trio, the Edisons, Shedman and his acting dogs, Miss Louise Alston, contraito; the Brunelles, with their Theatre, and Ray Burton, equilibrist and juggler.

Living bronze statues and the living picture dance still occupy the attention of visitors to the Casino. They are put forward as the leading features of a long variety bill. Marguerite, the con-tortionist, is on the programme this week, as well as Kokin, the Japanese juggler; Nizzrra and Mile. Almée, in a ring performance, and a number of others who have never before appeared at this The Casino has proved a popular place of late, and has been almost always well filled.

A pleasing performance of vaudeville specialties was given at the Eden Musec last night, and the Winter Garden was well filled. The Kinsners, from the Nouveau Cirque, Paris, made their first appearance at this house, and performed several remarkable balancing feats. They were well received. Mirs Jessie Lindsay, a dancer from Mexico, executed three picturesque dances which pleased everybody. In addition to her former list of imitations of stage artists, Miss Charlotte H. Gillette in "Too Much Alonzo Hatch introduced new songs, illustrated by stereopticon. Isabella Carlina's dog c.rcus and monkey pantomime was as laughable as The same programme will be given each evening of the week, and at the matinees on Weinesday and Saturday afternoons.

Comic entertainers of popularity swarm thickly at Proctor's this week, where the continuous vaudeville show is full of joility. The humor of James F. Hoey and the characteristic songs of Miss Founie Thornton are incidents in a performance which also introduces many popular performers, such as Imro Fox, comic conjuror; Gidon-Lynnes, Spadoni and Agnes, equilibrists; Bogert and O'Brien, musical eccentrics; Cushman and Holeomb, duettists; Mile, Blanche Paquerette, French fantastic; Miss Josie Gregory, Baldwin and "The Happy Hottentots"; Marie Griffith, Ludell and Alvarez, the Burt Sisters, Morton and Eckhoft, Vivie Nobrigd, Leonard and Fulton, De Camo, Harry Ricketts, Edward Estus and others.
